Clergymen Regret Plan for Showing Of 'Stromboli' Here

Letter Expresses Hope
Freeport Manager Will Still Withdraw Film

Members of the Freeport Inter-Faith Clergy Council have written an open letter to the Manager of the Freeport Theatre expressing "deep regret" that the film "Stromboli" is to be shown there. The epistle is signed by the Rev. C. Newman Hogle, pastor of the Freeport Methodist Church, the president, and the Rev. L. R. Hickman, secretary.

The clergymen express the hope that in the "name of common decency, you will have the courage to withdraw this picture and forever win the admiration and gratitude of the churches, the ministers, fathers and mothers and youth of our fair village."

"It is with deep regret that we see that you are one of one hundred theatres that are sponsoring the showing of this film," Stromboli, which because of immorality of the two leading people connected with it, has attracted so much unfavorable publicity.

"The ministers and churches of Freeport have always done their best to teach and preach a high standard of religion and morality and when you have shown good films we and our people have supported you and your theatres generously. But we deeply regret that you are about to be a party to something where every law of God and man has been broken, and crude sexuality is being shown gloriously. Your showing of this film will set back the teachings of the church fifty years."

"Because you are one of the important educational institutions in our community we do hope and pray that even yet, in the name of common decency, you will have the courage to withdraw this picture and forever win the admiration and gratitude of the churches, the ministers, fathers and mothers and youth of our fair village."

"Yours for decent moving pictures,"
"FREEPORT INTERFAITH CLERGY COUNCIL."
"C. Newman Hogle, President."

Pennsylvania Congressman Urges Republicans To Stop U.S. Trend Toward Socialism

Eddie Vasil
INTRODUCES

... 'Peppi' Dallolio

"I remember him from somewhere." That's what many people say when Peppino "Peppi" Dallolio greets them as Head Waiter at Guy Lombardo's East Point House.

They probably do, because Peppi was half of the famous dance team of Peppino and Rhoda, which headlined in the nation's top clubs, and became favorites in London and Paris. While appearing in Hollywood's most famous night-clubs, this talented dance team caught the attention of movie producers, and Peppino and Rhoda were featured in several pictures, including Harry Richman and George Raft-Jean Bennett productions. The dance team became a favorite with the Hollywood stars. From 1930 until he retired from show business in 1939, Peppi and his partner, held a top spot in the dancing field and were compared favorably with the DeMarens.

He was born in Bologna, Italy, and was brought here as a child to live in New Jersey. His natural dancing talent was instrumental in securing him a job as a dancer, even though only teenagers, they soon became a featured theatrical act. Early in 1939, Peppi married Jane Connolly and their marriage was blessed with a son. The desire to have a real home-life prompted Peppi to hang up his dancing shoes, rather than be "on the road" as show business demands.

Peppi's ability to mix with people and his wide contacts were recognized as excellent advantages by the Hotel New Yorker's president, Frank L. Andrews (then V.P.), who offered him the position of Captain of Waiters at the popular Manhattan Room of the New Yorker. Five years later he became headwaiter at the Bal Tabarin night club in New York. His work at this club was recognized by the owners of the Swan Beverly Country Club in New Orleans, so after three years at the Bal Tabarin, Peppi was signed on as headwaiter for the new establishment and requested to bring his own full crew of captains, chefs, waiters, etc.

The New Orleans climate didn't agree with Mrs. Dallolio, so they moved back North and bought a home in Nassau County. This proved to be one of his best moves because the news that Guy Lombardo had the East Point House was soon released. Peppi's association with Lombardo dates back to 1933, when he and Rhoda had been signed to appear at The Dells night club. Guy Lombardo and his Royal Canadians were the headlining act.

Guy took a liking to Peppi and arranged for the dance team to be booked with his orchestra into Long Island's Pavilion Royale, following the engagement at The Dells. A strong friendship developed, and when Guy Lombardo heard that Peppi was back up North and available, he added him to the staff of the East Point House.

Fate favored Peppi, and the opening of headwaiter was created when illness forced the man, signed for this spot, to submit his resignation. At forty-one years of age, Peppino "Peppi" Dallolio is one of the youngest waiters employed by a top dining establishment in the country. He has a tremendous personal following among show people, and his genial nature is winning many new friends. One patron remarked that Peppi has the continental charm of Charles Boyer coupled with the sincere interest of an old friend.

This is a brief story on Peppi, headwaiter at Guy Lombardo's East Point House, where many patrons, on their first visit say "I remember him from somewhere."

Corbett, Speaking for
Hall at G.O.P. Club
Installation, Calls
For November Victory
To Save Individual
Initiative in the U.S.
Says Cost of Security
May End Security;
Bedell Sees Officers

Congressman Robert J. Corbett, of Pittsburgh, Pa., speaking in place of Representative Leonard W. Hall, who could not leave Washington, called on the members of the Freeport Republican Club to join with party members throughout the nation, to stop the country's march toward socialism, at the installation of officers Thursday night in the Elks clubhouse. He was introduced by former President Everett C. Furman, who presided during the exercises.

The Pennsylvania Congressman declared 1950 could be a most decisive year in the political, economic and social life of America. Unless the Republicans win in the November election, the opportunity to stop the trend toward socialism will be too late, he predicted.

He pointed out that with the help of conservatives in the Democratic party, it had been possible to hold the line against President Truman's Fair Deal theories. However, should the Democrats carry the election next fall, Congressmen Corbett asserted the result would have such a tremendous psychological effect, that some who have been sitting on the fence, would join the Truman forces and the 82d Congress probably would give the President every item on his program that is now known and many things he might propose later.

Hopes for Gains in November
However, if the Republicans can make gains in the House of Representatives and the U.S. Senate this year, they will have an opportunity for a still greater victory in 1952 that might turn the tide on the march toward socialism, he said. Congressman Corbett referred to the necessity of the Democrats satisfying the left wing element of (Continued on Page 16)

Doctors to Study Emergency Service

Committee Named To Plan for 24-Hour Service in Nassau

Members of the Nassau County Medical Society, continuing the emergency service study project announced last week, have established a three-man committee of doctors to study plans for the organization of a 24-hour emergency medical service schedule to cover the county.

The new committee, named by Society President, Dr. Walter Freese of Baldwin, is headed by Dr. Gerard V. Farinola, of Roosevelt. Dr. Leo T. Flood, of Hempstead, and Dr. Lou Schneider, of East Rockaway, are the other members. The establishment of the committee follows last week's announcement by Dr. Freese that Nassau doctors were discussing the establishment of such a service.

The committee, Dr. Freese said, will have a tremendous job in sifting through the plans for 24-hour emergency service now being carried out in various areas of the county. Most of the plans have involved largely rural communities. It will be the committee's job Dr. Freese added, to see if it is possible to adapt any of the workable measures of the several plans to the particular conditions of Nassau County.

If the plan is found to be workable by the committee it will be necessary to rally public support behind it, Dr. Freese said. Newspaper support especially will be necessary to carry out such a plan efficiently. A listing of the doctors available in each district each day must be made public.

The committee is expected to hold its first organizational meeting within the next two weeks, the Medical Society has announced.

Senator Desmonds Bill Would Hit Fake Salesmen

Housewives of this community annoyed by door-to-door solicitors misrepresenting their missions will be protected by two bills introduced by State Senator Thomas C. Desmonds, of Orange County, to make it a misdemeanor for any person falsely to pose as the agent of a business firm, survey or census agency or to falsify his wares.

"Door-to-door promotion," said Senator Desmonds, "has increased since the end of the war. Housewives, especially in rural areas, are entitled to protection against unscrupulous canvassers. My bills will provide that those who falsely present themselves as employees of any business concern or individual, public or private agency, or who falsify their products, may be fined from $25 to $500, paid up to a year, or both."

"The bills will not penalize legitimate house-to-house merchandising, public opinion surveys, or other honest selling or poll taking. They will strike at the 'phonies' who misrepresent what they have to sell or their business connections or pose as pollsters or census takers for ulterior purposes, perhaps dangerous, known only to themselves."

Desmonds, "has cost many families millions of dollars a year. Better Business Bureaus and other agencies are doing their best to combat these racketeers, but they lack the weapons provided by my proposed laws, aimed not at honest agents but at dishonest ones who unhesitatingly will prey upon every possible victim."

Drop in Winter Driving Reduces Gasoline Tax

A study of gasoline consumption in 17 northern states made by the Ice Removal Bureau reveals an enormous loss of revenue for state and municipal governments during the winter because automobile travel is drastically curtailed then. While some reduction is inevitable, due to the fact that many people take vacations during the summer, in general do more driving at that time, the study indicates that a great deal of essential travel is also eliminated from December through March because roads and streets are covered with snow and ice.

Figures taken from Public Roads Administration reports show that in the 17 states that were studied gasoline consumption by automobiles and trucks dropped from 2,436,579,000 gallons in July and August to 1,734,468,000 gallons in January and February. Taking 3 cents a gallon as an average tax on gasoline many states tax more than 3 cents—this means that gasoline tax revenue plunged from $73,097,370 to $52,034,040 during those months in these 17 states alone—a difference of $21,063,330 in potential income.

Taste-Teasers

By NANCY COOK—ANS Features

Old tried and true recipes are often best. So, for you who like a rich and creamy lemon meringue pie, here's a failure-proof magic recipe that's an old favorite. The main ingredient that turns the trick — making a pie filling that cuts perfectly, never runs and is never too thick — is sweetened condensed milk.

Don't confuse sweetened condensed milk with evaporated milk. Evaporated milk is fluid milk with some of the water removed, but sweetened condensed milk is fluid milk with water removed and sugar added.

LEMON MERINGUE PIE
To make the filling, blend together 1½ cups (15-ounce can) sweetened condensed milk, ½ cup lemon juice, grated rind of one lemon or ¼ teaspoon lemon extract, and yolks of two eggs. Pour into baked pie shell or cookie crumb crust. Cover with meringue made by beating two egg whites with 4 tablespoons granulated sugar. Bake in moderate oven (325°), 15 minutes or until brown. Chill before serving.

A psychologist tells me that helping mother in the kitchen often aids the development of a child's creative sense. Take little 9-year-old Dickie Orlan, for example—one of the kids on "Juvenile Jury" (3:30-4 P.M. Sunday on MDS). His mother tells me he loves to cook breakfast, and with his mother's help has tried several ways of preparing scrambled eggs.

One of his "creations" sounded so good, I served it to my family, and won a round of hearty applause. We named the dish "Eggs Branette," and here it is:

EGGS BRANETTE
Beat 3 large eggs. Add ¼ cup of milk and 2 heaping tablespoons of all-bran. Season to taste, and scramble in regular way. Yield: 3 servings. You'll find the all-bran cereal gives added bulk and a delicious nut-like flavor.

Try a pinch of ground allspice in tomatoes, baked beans, eggplant or red cabbage. Wonderful flavor!

Mother always preached the value of experience in preparing hot breads or homemade jams and jellies. But today, with modern cooking shortcuts, experience is not necessary to treat your family to these goodies. Take any well-known brand of prepared roll or muffin mix . . . add some delicious homemade peach jam, and I'll wager your family will fall for flavorful homemade breads.

HOMEMADE PEACH JAM
Thaw a box (1 pound) of quick-frozen sweetened sliced peaches as directed on package. Chop very fine. Place in large saucepan with 2 teaspoons of lemon juice. Measure 1½ cups sugar and set aside. Put saucepan holding fruit over high heat. Add 3 tablespoons of powdered fruit pectin (mix contents of package thoroughly before measuring).

Stir until mixture comes to a hard boil and add sugar at once. Bring to a full rolling boil and boil hard 1 minute, stirring constantly. Remove from heat, skim, pour quickly into glasses. Paraffin at once. Makes about 3 six-ounce glasses.

Librarians Address Pre-School P.T.A. Unit

"Not to literally bring up a child by the book, but to use a book on child development as a guide to a better understanding of our children."

"To nurture golden memories for a child by sharing a happy story hour with him when he is little."

"To use picture books to enlarge his world and to arouse an interest and understanding of it."

These are some of the points which were emphasized by Mrs. Lyle Wilcott and Miss Hilda Koehler of the Freeport Memorial Library staff, in their book talk at the February meeting of the Pre-School Group of the Seaman ave., school P.T.A., in the music room of the school.

Miss Koehler displayed her autographed collection of Caldecott award winners and played records from a selected list for pre-school children.

The revised edition of the P.T.A. constitution was presented and will be voted upon at the next meeting to be held in conjunction with the Parent-Teacher organization, Tuesday night, March 7 in the school.

A nominating committee was appointed to report a slate of officers in March. It comprises Mrs. Henry Wirth, chairman, Mrs. William Barasch and Mrs. William S. Hughes.

C. Oliver Moore Speakers' Chairman In South Nassau Hospital Fund Drive

C. Oliver Moore, 2 Halsey st., has been appointed chairman of the speakers committee for the $1,250,000 South Nassau Communities Hospital campaign by Theodore J. Bourguignon, general chairman.

Mr. Moore is to enlist a committee of top speakers in the area who will present the hospital story to large clubs, organizations and meetings. A smaller speakers committee will also be formed in each village to carry the story to all clubs and organizations.

"I am sure that when the residents of South Nassau County hear the hospital story and understand the desperate need for additional hospital facilities, they will contribute to the $1,250,000 campaign which will more than double the present facilities of South Nassau Communities Hospital."

It really boils down to giving dollars for lives," Mr. Moore said as he accepted this appointment.

Mr. Moore is a prominent New York attorney. He is a native of Michigan where he was graduated from the Tokonsha High School. He is also a graduate of Syracuse University, a veteran of World War I and has practiced law in New York City for 30 years.

He is counsel for Save the Children Federation, Inc., which ministers to the needs of children in the southern mountains of the

Lt. Col. Wm. Maltby Son to Conduct Rites In Salvation Army

Memorial services will be conducted in the Salvation Army Chapel, 75 Church st., Sunday night for Mrs. Nellie Maltby by her son, Lieut. Col. William Maltby, divisional commander of the Greater New York Division. Brigadier William Bearchell, leader of the Salvation Army National Staff Band of New York City, and Mrs. Bearchell are to participate as well as many visiting and local officials. She was associated with the founder, William Booth and his daughter, the late Emma Booth Tucker and general Evangeline Booth, when that latter was a young captain in London.

Born in Preston, England, she entered Salvation Army work in 1904 from Preston and a short while later was transferred to Canada where she took command of some of the larger corps of those days and later became a Training Home officer in Toronto. Still later she was made a district officer in British Columbia, a most unusual honor for a woman officer.

French Sees Farmers
Hit if Food Chain
Is Broken by Court

Long Island farmers who annually supply A & P Food Stores with $5,000,000 worth of fresh produce, will lose the benefits of A & P's efficient system of distribution, if the anti-trust lawyers succeed in their attempt to break up the food chain, the Freeport Exchange Club was told. Earl R. French, national marketing director of the Atlantic Commission Co., A & P's produce-buying affiliate, addressed members of the Freeport Exchange Club at their weekly luncheon in the Elks clubhouse. He said, "A & P has developed a system which assures wide and efficient distribution of fruits and vegetables produced by hundreds of Long Island growers. 'If A & P is put out of business,' Mr. French added, 'not only will its own suppliers be adversely affected but millions of farm families who don't sell to A & P will suffer. These growers,' he continued, 'share the benefits of strong markets and high farm incomes which A & P helps bring about by moving enormous quantities of food into consumption with great merchandising effort behind sales." He asserted also that the loss of A & P's buying facilities and the break-up of its retail outlets would not only narrow the channels of distribution but would also curtail the advertising and merchandising of Long Island crops. He said it would force suppliers to seek new outlets for their produce, which would materially increase their sales costs. Mr. French explained that A & P has always cooperated with Long Island growers particularly in times of over-supply by conducting broad advertising and merchandising promotions. "Long Island growers and shippers were paid $5,287,129 for fruits and vegetables purchased for A & P in 1949," he said. "The huge volume equal to 5,573 carloads, was distributed to stores in 1,900 cities and towns throughout 26 states." Mr. French referred to a recent resolution passed by the Long Island Cauliflower Association condemning the anti-trust suit against A & P. The resolution read that "it would be very much to our farmers as well as the consumers' disadvantage to have a customer who purchased 20 per cent of the total amount of goods going over the auction blocks forced to discontinue business."

Freeport Pupils Are Active In Shubert School, Baldwin

John Kings and Peter Bennett, Freeport boys, are members of the athletic squad of the sixth grade of the Shubert School, Baldwin, which has won honors for the school.

Last fall during the football competition the sixth grade team earned a bronze trophy for Shubert by winning its two games. Now as a basketball team, the sixth graders took the school title, and then went to defeat teams representing each of the five other Baldwin schools. This record qualified the quintet to compete in a playoff against the Plaza School for the village championship and basketball trophy. Shubert won by a score of 42 to 12.

In their other games, Shubert defeated Prospect, 22 to 5; Coolidge, 29 to 20; Plaza, 27 to 15; Steele, 22 to 13, and Lenox, 48 to 11. Edward Dejnozka, sixth grade teacher, is the team's coach.

Plans are under way for the basketball season. Frank Keener, of Freeport, a pupil in Miss Jacqueline Lavac's third grade took part in the chapel program last Thursday. The feature was a take-off of the television show "Toast of the Town."

A minstrel show is to be given today at the supper grade assembly. Arnold Seaman, of Freeport, is to be one of the end men. Roberta Young, a Freeporter, and Jacqueline Smith are to sing a duet.

Freeport is represented by Lenore Rosenberg, Peter Bennett and Vance Bryant in a stamp club comprised of sixth and seventh grade pupils. Meetings are held every Tuesday at 3 P. M. under the supervision of Mrs. Marion Baum.

The pupils raised $282.28 for the March of Dimes, the highest amount of any school in Baldwin. Mrs. Margaret L. O'Connor is the principal.

Nassau Woman's Forum March 28 Topic Noted

"Cooperation—The Key to Freedom and Peace" is the theme of the seventh annual forum of the Nassau County Woman's Forum to be held in the Calderone Theatre, Hempstead, Tuesday, March 28. Mrs. Elizabeth Bass Golding, the president, announced today.

One of three speakers at the morning session will be Mrs. India Edwards, executive director of the Women's Division, Democratic National Committee. She will present the Democratic viewpoint in a discussion with Mrs. Joseph R. Farrington, president of the National Federation of Republican Women's Clubs, on national and international issues.

The morning session will open with a short program of music by the Hempstead High School band under the direction of Miss Imogene Boyle. The afternoon session will open with a program of organ music. Reservations are coming in rapidly for the 2,500 available seats in the theatre. Mrs. Rowland Merrifield and Mrs. Harold Cagen, ticket chairmen, report with the warning that further reservations should not be delayed as the demand is great.

F.H.S. LaCrosse Team Plans for Busy Season

Freeport High School's lacrosse team is holding practice for the 1950 season under the coaching of Bill Ashley whenever weather permits. The sport was introduced in the school last season and did so well, Coach Ashley decided to arrange a full schedule of 11 games this year and enter the squad in the Metropolitan Lacrosse Association tournament which includes such schools as the New York Military Academy and the Peckskill Military Academy. Five games will be played at the stadium.

Four members of the 1949 squad played on the All-Scholastic team in an All-Star game at Jones Beach. They were Carl Simons, Walter Nestvogel, Charles Krummel and Joseph Masone. These and other veterans will furnish the backbone of this year's team. The veterans are William Kenny, Jerry Simandl, Norman Holter, William Rockwell, Ronnie Reese, Charles Dietrich and Carmen Chimeri.

Freeport Artists' Guild Starts Membership Drive

A membership drive has been started by the Freeport Artists' Guild which hopes soon to have a permanent meeting place of its own. The program of the Guild is being expanded so as to cater to persons who are interested in painting, sculpture, pottery, sketching, cartooning, photography, ceramics and metal work.

Just as soon as appropriate quarters have been established, there will be a workshop in which persons interested can carry on their various hobbies. However, the organization must have a larger membership than it has at present before its ambitious program can be gotten under way. Exhibits are to be held from time to time throughout the year and instruction will be given through lectures and counsel professionals. Opportunity will be afforded for those possessing similar talents to meet and indulge in their kindred hobbies.

A membership committee has been named comprising Mrs. Frieda Yamins, Rockville Centre 6-0376-J; Mrs. Helen Cumbs, Baldwin 3-3616-M, and Mrs. Regina Woolford, Hempstead 2-4919-R from whom all information concerning the plans and aims of the guild can be obtained. No entrance fee is to be charged.

A NOTE OF THANKS

Yes, many thanks to you folks who got dial telephone service early last Sunday morning.

Overnight some 5,500 telephones in the Freeport area were converted to dial operation and everything went smoothly. Practically everyone remembered to wait for the dial tone and to dial only the calls within their own dialing area. Our operators were ready and eager to be of help but everybody caught on so fast that hardly any difficulties were encountered.

By the end of March, 4,000 more telephones in and around Freeport are also going to get dial service. Meanwhile, thanks again for your wholehearted cooperation.

Mrs. Ruby announced a series of membership "get-togethers" luncheons including one in Temple B'nai Israel Monday at 1 P.M. Others will be as follows: Feb. 23, Baldwin Temple, and March 12 and 27, Merick Jewish Center.

Law Turned Back To 'B.C.' Days By Dictators, Zavatt Tells Rotary

Dictators have turned the clock back to the time when the years are indicated by "B.C." so far as the administration of law is concerned, Joseph C. Zavatt, president of the Nassau County Bar Association, said at the weekly supper of the Rotary Club in the Elks clubhouse Thursday night.

Mr. Zavatt described how cases were tried in Egypt, Greece and Rome. In those days there were no trained lawyers or judges. Advocates pleaded the cases of defendants, receiving no remuneration for their services. These advocates resorted to oratory intended to appeal to the throngs that attended the trials, and the verdicts were decided by the applause of the spectators. This type of proceedings was carried on even in England until just a few centuries ago. And Mr. Zavatt told of how the slow changing British still clings to some of these ancient customs.

He then described how cases are tried in the courts dominated by Communism, where the defendant has a slight chance of a fair trial and the populace turns out to witness the proceedings. However, in this country, Mr. Zavatt said the lawyers were doing all in their power to keep the administration of justice up to its present high level, for which they were to be complimented.

The lawyer spoke on "The History of the Legal Profession." He was introduced by Walter J. A. Mack, President Ray Clements presided.

the party to remain in power and of their advocacy of the nationalization of the railroads, the banks and even the steel industry. If this happened, he maintained, it would mean the end of the day when talent counted in attaining success in life.

"Socialism, the Congressman declared, would dry up the sources of capital and investment essential to the free enterprise system. He pointed that the world-wide trend toward socialism had been set back by defeats at elections in Australia and New Zealand, but insisted it was going to be no easy matter to stay the movement in this country."

People Getting Tax Conscience

Next, he took up the promises of the Democratic party to provide comfort for the citizenry from the cradle to the grave. Admitting the program has a tremendous popular appeal, and some good points, the price of carrying out such a program was approaching the figure that would mean the destruction of America "as we know it," he continued. In the aggregate, he declared it was above the ability of the American public to pay. He observed, however, that the American people have finally become tax conscious, as is indicated by the mail being received by Congressmen, most of which concerns the subject of taxes.

"The true fact is that if we seek security and buy security beyond a certain point, we will destroy the very security we are seeking," he said. Pointing to the fact that people who took out life insurance years ago with a view to living comfortably after retirement, were realizing only 50 percent in value of what they expected, he added there was nothing to prevent money values being cut another 25 percent and continued:

"We can secure ourselves into insecurity."

"It is the God given duty of the Republican party to save freedom in this civilization and stand for a way of life that has brought civilization to the highest in this country." Pointing out that the growth of democracy had started only about 200 years ago, he said, "that way of life is being challenged by a situation that threatens its survival." He concluded by reiterating his contention the Republicans must do something about it this year or it probably will be too late.

Bedell Installs Officers

County Commissioner Theodore Bedell, Jr., officiated for Congressman Hall and installed the 1950 officers of the association. Republican Leader H. Alfred Volmer presented gifts to Miss Alice Fraser who retired as vice-president; Miss Mabel Combs, as secretary, and George F. Hasbrouck as treasurer after years of service. He also appealed to the nearly 500 members present to become active in the coming campaign to re-elect Congressman Hall, and a Republican U.S. Senator by getting out a heavy vote in November.

A buffet supper was served after the meeting.

Guests introduced included: Supreme Court Justice Cortland A. Johnson, Children's Court Judge James N. Gehrig, District Court Judge George S. Johnson, Town Attorney George R. Brennan and officials of Republican clubs in neighboring villages.

The officers installed were: President, Ralph L. Marshall; Vice-Presidents, Julius L. Birkenhead and Mrs. Benjamin Reiner; Treasurer, Gordon Simonson; Recording Secretary, Mrs. Harold W. Batlin; Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. Catherine Sonneck; Financial Secretary, Anthony S. Mirabella; Sergeant-at-Arms, Fred A.
